His apprenticeship was administered by second and third generation German Tool &amp; Die Makers. He worked for Precision Laser Services, starting out as a tool maker and quickly working his way up to the engineering department. Together, with his now business partner Chad Ross , they worked on manufacturing and design as well as manage government contracts. As sought after engineer in the manufacturing and machining industry, James accepted a position with Premier Hydraulic Augers in 2014. Here he successfully built an in-house machining shop that enabled Premier to bring in most all outsourced parts. He has designed several popular attachments, along with other products that has brought Premier into new areas of construction and agricultural attachment industry. This past combined experience is what helps GovParts succeed but his passion and knowledge of Government contracting is what will propel GovParts into a successful future in the Defense industry
